TO THE PEOPLE.

The session of Congress which is about to terminate, will be long and gratefully remembered by all true republicans for the triumphant success of many of their cherished principles and neasures. While we heartily rejoice at the triumph of the prin iples which it has been our constant effort to advocate and deend, and from which no prosperity, no adversity, can swerve us, we cannot be unmindful of the attitude in which we are placed by a recent vote of both houses of Congress :- we allude to the contemplated withdrawal of their patronage from the newspaper press. To this decision we cheerfully bow, sensible as we are of the patriotic motives which have led to it. But we trust that this decision of Congress increases rather than diminishes our claim to the support of a higher power-that of the people; and to them we confidently appeal to aid us, by their patronge, in sustaining at the seat of government a journal that is inflexibly devoted to their interests and the true interests of the country. It is known to every one, that the chief source of sustaining a newspaper is not the magnitude of its subscription list, so much as the advertising patronage which may be bestowed upon it. In large commercial cities, indeed, the latter is usually the concomitant of the former, as it becomes the obvious interest of mercantile men to advertise in those papers which are the most extensively circulated. Washington, however is differently situated. Deprived of the advertising patronage incident to a mercantile community, and burdened with peculiar and enormous expenses which are not elsewhere incurred, nothing but a very long list of subscribing patrons can sustain a paper in usefulness—if in deed, even in existence. The proprietors of the "Union" have hitherto spared no pains, and no expense, to make their paper worthy of the metropolis, and worthy of the support of that great party smaler whose banner they are enlisted. In publishing the party smaler whose banner they are enlisted. In publishing the most full and ample debates of the two houses of Congress, it is prices.
